

Wesley Curry, MD, FACEP

CEO Emeritus of CEP America

Dr. Curry is currently the CEO Emeritus of CEP America, one of the largest physician management companies in the nation. He joined CEP America as an emergency physician in 1982, was elected to the Board of Directors in 1992, and subsequently served as Chairman of the Board for 8 years. Appointed as CEO in 1995, Dr. Curry became a visionary for the Partnership's long term viability and relevance in a challenging practice environment for physicians, with direct responsibility for the execution of organizational strategy, operational performance and enterprise growth of the Partnership.

Through Dr. Curry's tireless work in team building and influence on physician leadership development, operational improvement initiatives, financial performance, and information technology adoption, CEP America has now become a widely recognized industry leader today. This unique Partnership now includes, over 250 multispecialty physician practices at more than 120 unique hospitals.

Dr. Curry is a diplomate of the American Board of Emergency Medicine and long term member of the American College of Emergency Physicians. Originally from Dallas, Texas, he received his undergraduate degree from Stanford University, medical degree from Harvard University Medical School, and completed his postgraduate training at the University of California San Francisco Hospital and Medical Center.